

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A personal article holder with accompanying tool includes a clamping body having a clamping position and an open position. The clamping body also includes an upper arm and a lower arm pivotally connected at one end thereof to a corresponding end of the upper arm such that personal articles may be retained between the upper and lower arm. The holder further includes a cavity formed therein for storage of one or more tools exclusive of personal articles and an attachment mechanism connected to the clamping body for attaching the clamping body to a desired surface. The tools may be provided with the holder and may include a calculator, a writing surface and utensil, a screwdriver and/or wrench, or a lens cleaning kit.